Measurable Response

Students will see Jacob's prophecy as an integral part of God's Kingdom plan.

Memory Verses

"The sceptre shall not depart from Judah, nor a lawgiver from between his feet, until Shiloh come; and unto him shall the gathering of the people be" (Gen. 49:10).

Session Summary

Adam and Eve's sin both disqualified them from ruling over the earth and made ruling impossible in that God cursed the earth. Adam and Eve could no longer subdue the earth. Weeds, pests, and thorns made growing food difficult. Animals and the weather eventually became violent and unpredictable, making the world a dangerous place to live.

After promising the Seed of the woman would come to defeat the serpent, God made a covenant with Abraham, promising him a land and a worldwide blessing. Jesus is the worldwide blessing. He came to earth as a man and died on the cross to offer salvation to the world.

God also revealed that Abraham would be the father of many kings. Later, God narrowed His plan for a royal line. Abraham passed his Covenant to his son Isaac and grandson Jacob. Jacob blessed his son Judah. The blessing revealed that a scepter would not depart from Judah until the One to Whom it belonged arrived. Jesus is Shiloh, the One to Whom the scepter belongs. He will one day return with His scepter to rule the world. Jesus will restore the rule and order lost when Adam sinned against God.
